1. Energoinport, a department of the Ministry of Foreign Trade, was until October 1950 responsible for all imports, but since that date some imports are handled by other companies such as Metalimport and Masiniimport. The main office of Energoinport is located at 32 Strada Vasile Lascar, Bucharest.
2. The company has several departments, known by the odd numbers from 17 to 33, only two of which are known:
  - a. No. 17, for heavy machinery, heavy ironware and motors, and needles for textile machinery.
  - b. No. 27, for radios and for equipment for telephone, radar and radio, submarines and other vessels.

Prior to October 1950 the company had approximately 400 employees, but after the curtailment of its activities there were only 190, most of them engineers. In January 1952 the staff was to be reduced by 12 to 14 percent.

3. Radios are imported  25X1
 Radio and electrical material, cables and carbon brushes are obtained  A number of engineers are sent as permanent purchasers  They appear there as private purchasers, have the invoices made out on the name of a local factory, and have the materials sent by plane. Sums up to 200,000 and 300,000  25X1 have been sent at intervals to these purchasing agents. The items purchased go to all the main factories in Rumania, whose files are marked for this purpose only with a number.
4. Urgent deliveries for the Army ordered through Aproarm and the Defense Ministry are sometimes taken over by officers and the packages picked up directly at the airfield.
